Flute Concerto

A flute concerto is a concerto for solo flute and instrumental ensemble, customarily the orchestra. Such works have been written from the Baroque period, when the solo concerto form was first developed, up through the present day. Some major composers have contributed to the flute concerto repertoire, with the best known works including those by Mozart and Vivaldi. Traditionally a three-movement work, the modern-day flute concerto has occasionally been structured in four or more movements. In so

Kernis's Flute Concerto is cast in four movements, rather than the conventional three, and lasts nearly 30 minutes. It makes fearsome demands upon the flutist, opening on the instrument's lowest note and soaring into the stratosphere. Its moods swing between gentle, stately dances and frenzied, virtuoso romps. Composer Aaron Jay Kernis.
